

TIMBER SUPPLY IS DISAPPEARING

16,176,000,000 Feet Have Been Cut in Virginia Since 1880.

LOWER RATES FOR EXPOSITION

President Anxious to Go Out of Office With Good Will of Southern People.

BY WALTER EDWARD HARRIS.
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 7.—Sixteen billion, one hundred and seventy-six million feet of lumber has been cut in Virginia since 1880. This does not include the amount cut last year, nor the amount cut in the four months of the present year.

The amount cut in Tennessee in the period indicated was 15,000,855,000 feet.

The total cut of North Carolina in the period from 1880 to 1906 was 20,486,000,000 feet.

The total cut of the United States from 1880 to 1906 was 706,712,000,000 feet. It is estimated that this amount of lumber would make a floor one inch thick over the States of Vermont, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Delaware, an area of 25,000 square miles.

Since 1880 Michigan, the great timber State of the Union, has produced over 93,000,000,000 feet of lumber, or 13.2 per cent. of the output of the entire country; Wisconsin, 76,000,000,000, or 10.7 per cent. of the total; Pennsylvania, 52,000,000,000, or 7.4 per cent.

How long will the timber supply of the United States last? Is a question frequently asked. It is not answered by the experts of the Forestry Service of the Department of Agriculture. The days of white pine are rapidly passing, they say, and in a very few years it will cease to be a large factor in the timber supply of the United States.

The present annual cut is about 3,000,000,000 feet in the Lake States and 1,000,000,000 in all other States combined.

The estimated amount of yellow pine standing in 1903 was 155,000,000,000 feet. The estimated annual cut is 12,000,000,000 feet. At this rate the yellow pine will have disappeared in about a dozen or so years.

Previous estimates of the Forestry Service fix the limit of the life of our lumber industry at from twenty to twenty-five years, provided steps are not taken to prevent the cutting of the forests.

The remaining forest areas of the various States total 700,459,750 acres. The present wooded area of Virginia is estimated at nearly 15,000,000 acres. North Carolina's forests are estimated at 12,000,000 acres. Tennessee's at over 17,000,000 acres.

It is estimated that each year cut of lumber at the present rate takes three years' growth, that is, while the annual increase in forests, the natural growth, is about ten cubic feet per acre, they are being cut at the rate of thirty cubic feet per acre. But the Forest Service maintains that it is impossible to bring our forests up to a point where the annual increment will reach thirty cubic feet per acre.

30,000 Guests a Day.
An official of the Treasury Department makes the statement that the department is watching the Jamestown Exposition closely, and that the company will be held to strict compliance of the law authorizing the loan of a million dollars to the exposition company. The department figures that a daily attendance of 30,000 will be necessary to make the exposition a financial success.

Those acquainted with the plans which the exposition management has set on foot for the further financing of the enterprise declare that they are eminently sound, and that when carried out will put the exposition on a firm basis, and at the same time make it a profitable one.

a firm basis, and at the same time make it a profitable one. With prompt action in overcoming the unfavorable impression of opening time, it is believed by those who are acquainted with the high character of the exposition and its many new and novel features, that the inauguration opening will be followed by a successful and widely attended exposition.

It seems probable that the company will succeed in floating the $100,000 loan, and that this will give the exposition company ample means to work out every detail of the plans. At the same time it is said that the people of the Norfolk section have had admiration by the slack attendance since the opening that if it is to be a success, visitors must be entertained at reasonable prices, and that in the future people will find accommodations as reasonable as they have been at any of the great expositions that have preceded this one.

Wants Good Will of South.
It is pretty generally understood that the President is looking for a Southern man for Commissioner of Internal Revenue, and that that man will in all probability be the Collector of Internal Revenue, Thompson, of Alabama, who is known to be in high favor at the White House.

Pearl Wright, the rich merchant of New Orleans, who was tendered the place, has practically decided that he would rather hold on to his million dollar contracts with the Panama Canal Commission than to accept the commissionership, though he has for some time had a yearning for a residence in Washington.

Collector Thompson is very highly spoken of by the Internal Revenue Bureau here. He is said to have made a splendid record as collector, and has the high regard of his superior officers here.

The President is said to be determined to get his man from the South, and to spend the remainder of his days in the White House trying to win for himself the good opinion at the South that he to-day holds at the North.

His firm resolve not to be lured into a third-term campaign, and his determination to the politicians generally, and he has told several of his callers that his chief desire now is to retire with the good will of the people of every section of the country.

There is a great deal of politics in his attitude favoring Mr. Taft for nomination. Information is gradually leaking out that the President wants to build the canal, and that Secretary Taft thinks he is the man for the job.

There are those politicians who say that the attitude of the President in favor of Taft is entirely correct, and very much to be commended, but the weight of opinion seems to be that it is the best asset that Taft has. And it is definitely known that Mr. Taft thinks that the support of Mr. Roosevelt will land him the nomination.

Colonel Harper Honored.
Colonel Robert N. Harper, president of the American National Bank, of this city, was unanimously chosen president of the new Chamber of Commerce of Washington at an annual meeting of the body last night.

Several other names were mentioned in connection with the position, but it is a notable fact that when it was ascertained that Colonel Harper would be urged for the place all other candidates withdrew their names.

Colonel Harper's place as the foremost in the business world of Washington is a tribute to Virginia industry and enterprise, and business acumen. He is a Loudoun county man, who has been in business in Washington for a good many years, more than his youthful features would indicate.

He has been very successful in business, and the American National Bank, which he founded a few years ago, and of which he is president, has excited the comment of financial men of the entire country in rapid increase of its growth. It is now one of the foremost financial institutions of the District of Columbia, a fact largely due to the skill and business wisdom of Colonel Harper. Although Colonel Harper resides in Washington, he has not ceased to be a Virginian, and continues to take a keen interest in affairs in the old State, especially in political matters. He was a colonel in the government service, and was prominently mentioned in connection with the Democratic nomination to Congress from the Eighth District to succeed the late Hon. John P. Riley, but the demands of business were unyielding, and he may enter politics at a later day.

DR. FERRAND ON TUBERCULOSIS

Address on Campaign Against
Tuberculosis in United States
Was Feature of Session.

CROWDED ROOMS THE CAUSE

Lack of Hygienic Conditions Responsible for the Development of Disease.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Interest in the session to-day of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis centered in the sociological section, in which were discussed questions affecting tuberculosis in schools and factories. The sentiment, as expressed by the delegates, was unanimous that crowded rooms, bad air and poor light were the prime causes of the spread of the disease, and that radical steps should be taken to overcome this condition of affairs. While it was admitted that occasional "open" causes existed, the lack of proper hygienic conditions in the schoolroom and workshop was regarded as being responsible for the development of the disease. It was contended that only in the most modern buildings could the air and light be said to be approximately satisfactory.

Dr. Farrand's Speech.
The feature of to-night's session was the address of Dr. Livingston Farrand, of New York, who spoke on the "Campaign Against Tuberculosis in the United States."

He delivered an address, in which he described the movement against tuberculosis in the United States, and called particular attention to the advances which had been made during the two years in which the National Association has been actively at work. He said that the chief task of the association has been one of education. The chief effort, therefore, has been directed toward the formation of State and local associations for the prevention of tuberculosis, which have as their function the conduct of the campaign in their respective Commonwealths and localities.

Two years ago there were seven States with organizations, operating on State lines, these States being New Hampshire, Vermont, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. During the past two years eight more, New Jersey, Delaware, North Carolina, Georgia, Kentucky, Minnesota, Iowa and Washington, have formed associations, making fifteen now in existence and affiliated with the National Association.

In addition to these plans for State organization are far advanced in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New York, Virginia, Michigan, Missouri, and California, so that twenty-two States are now practically provided for, and from the point of view of State organization and geographical distribution the situation is well in hand in all parts of the country, with the exception of certain sections of the South and far West. It is the plan of the association to push its campaign of organization through the Southern States during the coming winter. Active societies have been formed in twenty-six of the largest cities of the country, where an organized campaign of prevention is being carried on. Of the remaining twelve, organization is far advanced in at least six, and it is hoped that during the coming year the situation will have been met in the entire list. In the small towns there are twenty-four local organizations, and an increase of nearly 300 per cent. in two years.

Two years ago State sanatoria for the treatment of tuberculosis had been established in Massachusetts, Maine, Rhode Island and New York. Since that time provision has been made and sanatoria have been opened, or will open in the immediate future, in New Jersey, Maryland, North Carolina, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, and Kentucky, while bills have been introduced into the Legislatures and are being actively pushed in Delaware, Florida, Kansas, Alabama, Texas and California.

During the past year local sanatoria have been opened or provision made for them in over twenty cities, and agitation is active in all parts of the United States. Of eighty-five cities with a population of over 48,000, from which reports were obtained, more than fifty now require the reporting of tuberculosis.

The program of work insisted upon with all organizations, Dr. Farrand said, emphasizes the necessity of co-operation with the public authorities, the provision of an adequate scale of facilities for the care of tuberculous patients by the establishment of proper hospitals, sanatoria and dispensaries, and last, and most important, education of the public by every means that can be devised. This education consists in making clear to every individual that tuberculosis is infectious, that it is preventable, and that in its early stages it is curable. The great task is one of prevention, and this involves the observation of a proper hygiene by every individual and care against infection through the sputum of careless consumptives. The spread of these doctrines is now so rapid, and the enthusiasm in the anti-tuberculosis campaign is so great that the prospects of ultimate success in stamping out the greatest of scourges seem more than promising.

MRS. WILLIAM THAW MORTGAGES HOME

Borrows $100,000 on "Lyndhurst," Her Palatial House in Pittsburgh.

LOAN MATURES IN 3 YEARS

Harry K. Thaw Has Received $50,000 from Trust Funds.

PITTSBURGH, PA., May 7.—"Lyndhurst," the pretentious home of Mrs. William Thaw, in the East End section of this city, has been mortgaged for $100,000, according to the Pittsburgh Leader to-night. The mortgage was secured some time ago. The book containing the record has been filed, according to this newspaper, and information concerning the document did not become public until to-day. The interest charged is 5-1-2 per cent. and the mortgage is held by the Fidelity Title and Trust Company. It will mature in three years.

The paper was drawn in New York City on March 7, 1907, and was witnessed by Attorney Clifford W. Hart, of Harry Thaw's counsel, and John P. Meagher, a notary, who did the necessary work of witnessing and putting the official seal of the Commonwealth upon the document. Extraordinary efforts were made to keep the mortgage secret. Four trustees' accounts under the will of William Thaw were filed for audit in the office of the register of wills this morning.

Harry Kendall Thaw is shown to have been the recipient of the second largest income of any of the heirs, nearly $60,000 having been paid to him from this source alone. This sum was exclusive of the income which he receives from various other bequests under his father's will. The account of Harry Thaw shows there is due him, under the direct legacy allowed by his father, the sum of $439,534.46.

The income from this if it invested by the trustee during the three years covered by the account is $93,903.20. Of this sum expenditures have been made covering the necessary expenses of the estate, bringing the amount actually paid him down to something less than $60,000.

DRIVEN FROM HOME, BECOMES BANDIT

Boy of Sixteen, with Companion,
Hold Up Two Street Car Conductors.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., May 7.—Followed in his attempt to hold up, with the aid of a companion, two trolley conductors in West Philadelphia early today, and fearing that he had killed a policeman in his effort to escape, Harold S. Jones, aged sixteen years, shot and instantly killed himself on the street, as he was about to be captured by another policeman. His companion, G. H. Geddis, aged eighteen years, was arrested while in bed at his home.

Jones belonged to a good family in the northwestern part of the city, his father being a prosperous business man. The boy had some differences with his father yesterday, and he was told to "shift for himself." As the boy was leaving the house his weeping mother asked him what he was going to do, and he replied: "I don't know and I don't care."

Jones sought out Geddis, and they were not heard of again until they turned up in West Philadelphia and held up two trolley conductors. They showed fight and Jones and his companion fled. Policemen saw the occurrence and gave chase. Jones turned and shot at one of the pursuing policemen. The bullet went wide of the mark, but the policeman, in order to deceive the fleeing youth, dropped to the sidewalk as if he had been shot.

Jones saw him fall, and stopped, cowering up against the side of a house and sent a bullet into his own heart.

Lecture on Cliff-Dwellers.
Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert McClurg lectured this evening in the auditorium at the Jamestown Exposition under the auspices of the civic department of the Woman's Club. Their subject was "The Cliff-Dwellers and Prehistoric Colorado." After the lecture the members of the Woman's Club tendered a reception to Mr. and Mrs. McClurg in the Virginia Building.

INSANE MAN MURDERS SIX
A Carpenter, in Mad Fit, Shoots Six Persons with a Shotgun.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—Walter C. Davis, a carpenter, in a fit of insanity to-day shot and killed six persons at 414 Pierre Street in this city. Davis and his victims all resided with the family of Orson Bush, who conducted a boarding-house. Davis's home was in Farmersville, near Visalia, this State, where he has a wife and six children. He has been working here as a carpenter since the fire. The shooting was done with a double-barreled shotgun. Davis, who slept in the same room with young Orson Bush, and W. E. Beard, arose shortly after 5 o'clock and shot his two roommates.

After killing Bush and Beard, Davis took a box of shells from a shelf and walked down the hallway, where he met Mrs. Lillie Crothers, a boarder who had heard the first two shots and had come to her doorway to find out what was the matter. He shot her, and, with the remaining shell, shot Mrs. Orson Bush. M. E. Vinton, a government surveyor, who had recently come here from New York, was killed as he lay in bed.

Orson Bush, Sr., heard the shooting and rushed upstairs, where he was met by the murderer. The appearance of the hallway indicates that Bush had made a desperate fight for his life. His body was found as it had fallen at the head of the stairs.

Seventeen-year-old Annie Bush came running into the hallway, and met Davis. He turned the gun upon the girl, aiming at her head. The girl found voice to say, "Please don't kill me," and the shotgun dropped from Davis's hands.

"I can't do it," he said. "You are a good girl. Besides, you look like my own child, and I would see her face if I killed you."

When the policeman came to arrest Davis he fought like a demon and a riot call was turned in. Seven officers responded in an automobile. Two officers engaged Davis in a conversation while the others got behind him and pinioned his arms. He was removed to the Detention Hospital.

PINK CARNATION CUPID'S MESSENGER

Staunton Man Courtied by Mail and Married Woman He Saw First on Wedding Day.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
CINCINNATI, OHIO, May 7.—A pink carnation, tied with a green ribbon, was Cupid's signal for George Showkels of Staunton, Va., who came to this city to claim as his bride Miss Love Van Fraussen, a handsome young woman of West Fifth Street.

Showkels is a merchant in Staunton and business kept him at home while he did his courtship by mail. The introduction had come by mail, and the culminating point in the courtship came before Showkels had found time to come and see his fiancée. Each wore a pink carnation, tied with a green ribbon, so they would know each other when they met for the first time in the Grand Central Station. After the ceremony the couple departed for Virginia, their future home.

BOSTOCK SUMMONED.
Question of License Tax Will Probably Be Settled Promptly.

In regard to the nonpayment of license tax by the Board of Supervisors, City Collector Frank W. Cunningham stated last night that there was little likelihood of any action further than a collection of the tax by the court which fears the case.

Captain Cunningham said further that he had little fear that the management of the show had made any attempt whatever to do such a foolish thing as elude the tax requirements of the city, and that it was probably a mere case of neglect. The license to date amounts to $150 for the fourteen weeks the show has been at Idlewood and for one week it was stationed at the corner of Fifth and Charity Streets.

Director Bostock has been summoned to appear in court.

LEAVE FOR NORTH.
Officers Go to Bring Alleged Baggage Thieves Back.

The appeal of the three alleged baggage thieves in New York to the United States Circuit Court to prevent extradition to Virginia for trial has been denied, and last night Special Agent Sheriff, of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway, and Detective Sergeant Bailey and Wren left for the North to take the prisoners in charge and bring them back to Richmond.

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS

Congress Convened in Washington, and Several Thousand Physicians Are Present.

DR. R. H. FITZ'S ADDRESS

Congress Divided Into Fifteen Separate Associations.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The Congress of American Physicians and Surgeons convened in this city to-day for a three-days' session. The initial meeting was devoted to the discussion of historical development and relative value of laboratory and clinical methods in diagnosis. Dr. Reginald H. Fitz, of Boston, president of the congress, delivered the opening address.

The congress, which is meeting in its seventh triennial session, is divided into fifteen separate associations and societies, and is being attended by several thousand physicians from all parts of the country. The following organizations are holding their sessions to-day:

American Otolological Society, American Neurological Association, American Gynecological Association, American Laryngological Association, American Climatological Association, Association of American Physicians, American Association of Genito-Urinary Surgeons, American Orthopedic Association, American Physiological Society, American Medical-Psychological Association, The American Association of Pathologists and Bacteriologists and the American Ophthalmological Society.

The American Dermatological Association is the only branch not meeting with the congress this year.

NEGRO MURDERER CAUGHT AND LYNCHED

Mob Visits His Home and Whips Members of His Family.

AUGUSTA, GA., May 7.—A special to the Herald from Dearing, Ga., says: Charlie Harris, a negro farm hand, who yesterday shot and fatally wounded Hayden Pearson, a prominent farmer, was lynched last night by a mob of about forty unmasked men. His body was riddled with bullets. The mob then visited the negro's home, severely whipped members of his family, and gave them a brief time in which to get out of McDuff county.

Pearson, who lives near this place, was remonstrating with the negro about poor work done on his farm, when Harris drew a revolver and fired several shots into his body. His death is but a question of hours.

A posse was immediately organized and captured the negro. He was started toward Thompson, but never got through a deep swamp, which had to be crossed. No arrests have been made.

TWO MURDERS; FOUR SUICIDES

Washington Revels in an Epidemic of Killing During Twenty-Four Hours.

KILLED SELF AND WIFE
Telegraph Operator, Crazed by Jealousy, Shoots Wife and Child.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 7.—As the result, it is alleged, of a quarrel over a wedding ring, William O. Rice, aged twenty-five years, of 131 Heckman Street Southeast, this city, and a telegraph operator on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, to-day shot and instantly killed his wife, Lillian, fired a shot at his one-year-old baby, Earl, which took effect in the leg, and then committed suicide by shooting himself.

Rice, who worked nights, returned to his home at an early hour this morning, and, finding his wife and baby asleep, woke them up. A discussion ensued regarding Mrs. Rice's wedding ring, it being alleged that Rice had possession of the ring, and would not return it to his wife. A quarrel followed, when Rice, securing a pistol, lying on a table, fired four shots.

Rice, his wife and child, resided in the house of Mrs. Rice's father and mother. Her relatives think the crime was actuated by jealousy, although they say there was no reason for it. The tragedy was enacted in the presence of Miss Ida Groves, sister of the murdered woman. Rice died almost instantly, two bullets having entered his body. His wife breathed her last while in the patrol wagon on the way to Providence Hospital. Little Earl was detained at the hospital to be treated for a bullet wound in the fleshy part of his leg, and while the surgeons think he will recover from the effects of it, they are not certain that an injury to his head, which he fell from his mother's arms, will not result seriously.

There have been two murders and four suicides in Washington within twenty-four hours.

For Girls and Women

You Need Cardui

At every age, after entering womanhood, girls and women need the strengthening, building, pain-relieving assistance of Wine of Cardui.

It will carry you over the rough places, ease your hard days and increase the comfort and pleasure of living.

What its millions of users think of it, is well expressed in these words of Mrs. Rosa Lee Cole, of Smithton, Mo., who writes: "I suffered from female troubles for 7 years. I had a pain, low down in my stomach, my feet hurt so I could not stand, and I was so weak and nervous I could hardly do anything. I was just sick all the time. At last I wrote you for advice and you recommended Wine of Cardui, which I took according to directions. I have now taken 5 bottles of Wine of Cardui and am feeling better than in the past 7 years. My feet and stomach do not hurt, my female troubles have gone, I am getting stouter and stronger, can do all my housework, work in the garden and tend to 260 little chickens."

Wine of Cardui acts directly upon the sick or disordered womanly organs or functions. It is a natural, scientific, female tonic. It contains no dangerous minerals, or other deleterious ingredients, but is purely vegetable, perfectly harmless and beneficial to young and old.

Every reliable druggist sells it, in $1 bottles. Try it.
